Role: Agency Time & Labor Specialist
PROCESS

Delegation allows a supervisor to assign their direct reports to someone else in the organization to approve timesheets and enter/review absences on their behalf. Delegation can be established for a duration not to exceed one year.

Agency Payroll staff may enter delegations on behalf of a supervisor if the supervisor cannot in the following scenarios:

- Supervisor is on a vacation.
- Supervisor is out of the office during approval deadlines.
- Supervisor cannot locate the desired delegate from the pre-populated list.

Agency Payroll staff should not enter a delegation in the following scenarios because transactions will automatically route upward to the approver for that supervisor:

- Supervisor is on a leave of absence.
- Supervisor’s position is vacant.

Agency Payroll staff should not enter a delegation for a supervisor who is using accrued leave prior to termination. The Reports to Position Number for the supervisor’s staff should be updated to the person who will be approving on their behalf.
